

I strongly object to Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force it's tv stations to broadcast what amounts to free political advertising for the Republican candidate for President.

When corporations forget and/or ignore the fact they are using airwaves owned by all the public, they should face some consequence by the entity whose job it is to regulate them.

If Sinclair follows through on it's threat to coerce stations to broadcast a non-journalistic, one-sided attack on the Democratic candidate, then I believe it would be in the public interest that any and all of its broadcast license renewals should be denied.
